DESCRIPTION	Cats, dogs, monkeys and birds have been cherished on board ships for as long as people have made sea voyages. Sydney photographer Sam Hood went on board thousands of ships between 1900 and the 1950s. This selection of photographs shows how much pets meant to many seafarers. In a life from which children and families are usually missing, and are often very much missed, pets provide a focus for emotions and affection. Hood took countless photographs of crew members who purchased them as souvenirs of their visit, or to send home to families.
